In the PlusOne accelerated Master’s in Finance program, you’ll study graduate level coursework during your senior year and apply select credits toward both a bachelor’s and master’s degree. Prepare to further your analytical, financial management, and problem-solving skills to set yourself apart from other professionals in the market.

When Do I Start Planning?

The ideal time to start planning is during your sophomore year or junior year, so you can map out your coursework appropriately. Start by setting up time with your Academic Advisor who will help you find the best fit for your schedule. Please note that this program only starts in the Fall.

The Benefits

DOUBLE-COUNT YOUR COURSEWORK
Up to 16 credits earned count toward a bachelor’s and master’s degree, allowing you to receive your graduate degree in half the time it would have taken you to complete a traditional master’s program.

CUT DOWN ON COSTS
Your 16 credits that count toward both your undergraduate and graduate education are billed at the undergraduate tuition rate.

GAIN A COMPETITIVE EDGE
According to the Graduate Management Admission Council, companies continue to express high levels of hiring demand for business school graduates.

Admissions Requirements

> Minimum Cumulative GPA of 3.25
> B or better (3.0) in pre-requisite curriculum
> Completion of two 6-month co-ops

OUTEARN YOUR PEERS
According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the median pay for a professional with a master’s in finance is just over $128,000 annually.

CFA EXAM PREPARATION
Our faculty integrate the CFA Body of Knowledge into the curriculum to help you prepare for licensure should you opt to sit for this exam.
