BUILD WEALTH WITH MUTUAL FUNDS

Behind every successful mutual fund is a knowledgeable asset manager who creates value by spotting opportunity and capitalizing on growth.

Earning your Graduate Certificate in Mutual Fund Management from Northeastern University helps you build your skill set for constructing and managing portfolios of assets that build wealth and achieve your clients' long-term goals. You'll gain confidence through applied project work and case studies, learning directly from the experiences of our excellent faculty, who are seasoned financial experts, consultants, and thought leaders in investing.

In just 12-15 credits, you'll learn the essentials of managing funds, including allocating assets, managing risk, and complying with regulations. Depending on the electives you choose, you'll explore critical topics in greater depth, such as market analysis or fixed income securities.

Deepen your learning by joining the 360 Huntington Fund, a student-managed fund in Northeastern's endowment. Research and present stock recommendations to your peers, or learn the day-to-day responsibilities of different fund management positions, as you build applied experience that enriches your classroom learning.

The finance courses are relevant to the current moment and offer so much more than what a textbook alone can teach you. Starting with the milestone of a graduate certificate, with the option to carry credits forward into a future master's degree, gave me the confidence to get started."
