ENGAGE ACTIVELY. LEARN COMPREHENSIVELY.

As an MS in Finance student, not only will you study a curriculum that emphasizes learning by doing, but you'll also have access to electives, clubs, and other unique opportunities to transform your classroom learning into tangible outcomes.

Apply to join the management team of 360 Huntington Fund, where you can earn course credit while researching and recommending stocks for a mutual fund in Northeastern's endowment, combining academic learning with real portfolio management experience. Or take advantage of our dedicated Bloomberg lab to earn certifications that can expand your knowledge of markets and distinguish you in the workplace.

You can also opt for an intensive travel elective to accelerate your time to graduation. Our Global Field Study immerses you in the practices and culture of a specific global business destination, and our Washington, D.C., residency allows you to explore the impact of public policy on business and markets. In addition to rigorous finance coursework, you can travel, dive into new industries, and see business through a global perspective.

"The biggest advantage of the MS in Finance is that you can build a deep understanding of the fundamentals of finance in a flexible, part-time program—thanks to faculty who have significant asset management experience and bring a wealth of practical knowledge into the classroom." — Richard Herron, Teaching Professor, Finance
